TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT – Trick or treaters will be out in droves tonight – the youngsters in this photo are just a small sampling of the variety of animals, goblins and scary creatures who may show up at the door. These youngsters attend the West Parish Nursery School, at the West Parish Church, and dressed up especially for the Townsman photographer. (Staff Photo)

Charter Requirement On Buying Ignored

Central purchasing, one of the foremost arguments put forth by proponents of the town manager charter, doesn't exist to any greater degree than it ever did.

This is the conclusion of a sub-committee of the Charter Study Committee, after examining town purchasing procedures.

Nor, the sub-committee found, is there much central purchasing involving the school department.

"School purchasing as outlined in the charter is not carried out by the manager", chairman Harold Cookson reported.

The full committee spent most of its time Tuesday night reviewing the sometimes-complicated purchasing procedures.

In summation, the sub-committee report indicated:

The School Department buys its own supplies - much of this purchasing is on a price rather than a bid basis.

The town manager signs warrants containing the amounts to be paid for the supplies, but does not see the bills. He also does not authorize the purchases, for non-educational materials.

Small purchases are still carried

Selectmen Issued Business License In Residential Zone

Considerable conversation has been generated within the town, since the Selectmen last week granted a junk dealer's license in a residential zone.

The license was given to Wilfred Michard, 30 Marland st., with the restriction that no junk be kept on the premises, and that the truck or trucks used in the operation be emptied each night.

According to the town's zoning maps, Marland st. is in a single residence A district.

Permitted uses in a residential area do not include a junk yard, according to the town's by-laws.

According to published records, a joint meeting of the Selectmen and Board of Appeals was held Sept. 25, 1961, to discuss infractions of the zoning by-laws and enforcement of the laws.

Fall Concert Next Wednesday

The Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra, under the direction of its conductor, Joseph A. Ierardi, will present its fall concert Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 8:15 p.m., at the Andover High School Auditorium on Shawsheen rd.

The featured work of the evening will be Mendelssohn's Third Symphony, better known as "the Scotch".

Also on the program will be the Gluck Overture, "Iphigenia in Aulis"; a Bach Suite; and Moussorgsky's "The Great Gate of Kiev".

This will be the first time that the Mendelssohn Third Symphony has been presented in the Merrimack Valley, and it is believed that this is the first occasion that this exacting work has been done by other than a completely professional symphony orchestra.

Regional Girl Scout Office Coming Here By December

The Merrimack River Girl Scout Council will have its central offices here, in a new building now under construction by C. Lincoln Giles.

The structure will occupy space between two houses on North Main st., next to Charles Studio. Excavation for the offices has already begun, and occupancy is anticipated by Dec. 2.

The Council - much enlarged in area and service - results from the consolidation of several Councils in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, and the addition of several communities not formerly served by a Council.

Miss Emily Heald of Methuen has served as chairman of the Organization Committee, which carried out the consolidation.

She described the new headquarters as covering five towns that formerly were not in a Council, and including five established Councils.

Joining into one Council will be the Greater Lawrence Girl Scout Council, and those of Haverhill, Lowell, Nashua, N. H. and Pepperel. Towns added to the Council will be, in New Hampshire, Windham and Hollis, and in Massachusetts, Littleton, Shirley and Ayer.

Miss Heald described the consolidation as being along the lines suggested by the national Girl Scout office, so that greater service can be given through the increased strength and ability of the larger Council. Resources and manpower will be greater under the new Council, she explained.

The new area to be served by the local office has a population of some 450,000 persons, and 7,800 girl scouts.

Staffing the office will be an executive director, Mrs. Charles Davis, now in Lynn. The program services director will be Miss Mary Virginia Gaines, now associated with the Greater Lawrence Council.

Four field advisors will be

Parade, Dance On Tap Tonight

The annual Horribles Parade and Dance will be held here tonight.

Sponsored by the Andover Junior Chamber of Commerce, the evening's events get under way at 6:30, when the parade starts from Elm Square on its way to the Playstead, where refreshments will be served and a bonfire lit. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes, as children of all ages are invited to take part in the parade.

The dance, which is for high school students only, will run from 7:30 to 9:30 at the Playstead, and a disk jockey will provide the music. Al Hamel, treasurer of the Jaycees, is chairman of the event.

HELD PARTY FOR HOSPITALIZED CHILDREN

The Junior Red Cross and the Service Club of the High School combined their energies Wednesday afternoon, to bring a little Halloween joy to young patients at the two local hospitals.

Members of the Service Club held a party at Bon Secours Hospital, while Junior Red Cross members went to the Lawrence General Hospital.

WHAT DID YOU PAY FOR ANTIBIOTICS 25 YEARS AGO?
25 years ago you couldn't buy antibiotics at any price. Neither could you get tranquilizers, steroids, radioisotopes, polio vaccines, nor a host of wonder drugs that are now commonplace.
They do much to reduce your total cost of illness. That's why we say: "Today's prescription is the biggest bargain in history."

Shortly after that meeting, Town Manager Thomas E. Duff wrote a letter to Building Inspector Ernest Hall, in which he noted that enforcement of the by-laws is in the manager's area of responsibility.

In part, the letter from Mr. Duff to the building inspector stated:

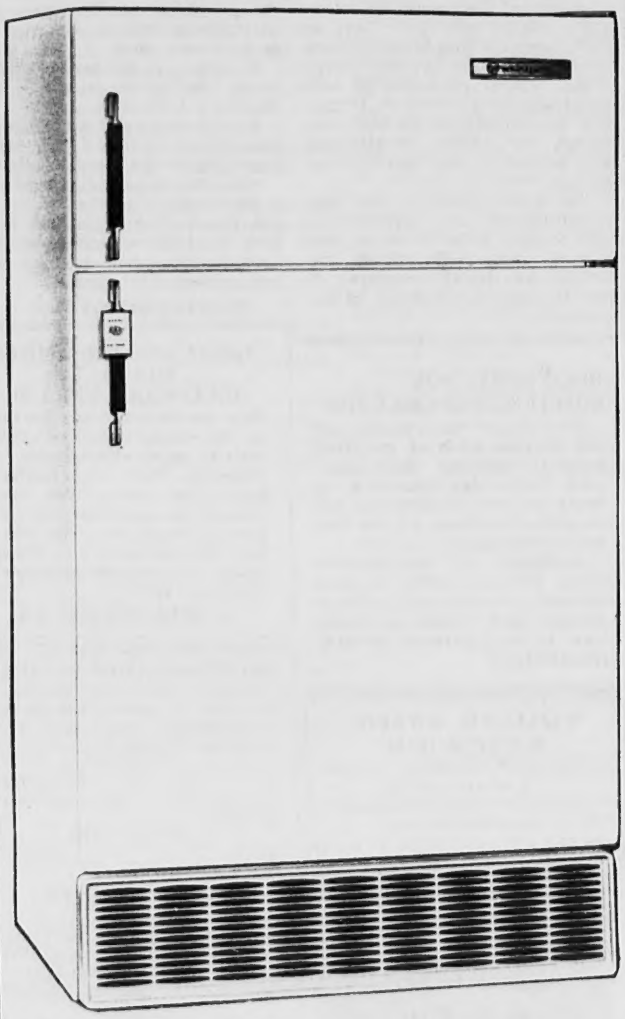

"It was the consensus of the members of the two boards present at this meeting that the zoning by-laws should be enforced as directed in the town charter and that any continued violation should be brought to the attention of the manager, who, in turn, will solicit the advice and support of town counsel.

"As a starting point, we will adopt the policy that all new businesses setting up practice in an area which is in violation of the zoning by-laws will be directed, through your office, to cease their operation and conform to the town by-laws".

Youth Rally Sunday Night

TONY ROMEO

Tony Romeo, star right end of the Boston Patriots, will speak to an Andover-wide Youth Rally in the Andover Baptist Church, Sunday, Nov. 3, at 6:30 p.m.

Tony has many athletic achievements of which he could boast if he chose, having been named to All-American High School Team and all star teams; his own Hillsborough High School was so proud of his record that they sent his Football Number (38) to the School's Hall of Fame; Florida State University then signed him to a football scholarship, and from this college he graduated with a B.A. in Business degree. In 1957, he was named to almost every All-American team in the Country as right end.

But Romeo is more than an athlete. He is an outstanding Christian and he likes to tell of his experiences, "From the first string on the Devil's team to the front lines of the Christian Conflict." He is an ordained minister, pursuing theological studies at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas, between the football seasons.

A discussion and refreshment period will follow Tony's talk.

Will Tell About School Library

Members of the West School PTA will hear about the school library, at the meeting Nov. 6.

Mrs. Helen Hilton, librarian, will speak to the meeting. She has an extensive background in the field, having been head of the Children's Department Book Store at Columbia University. She has her A.B. degree from Bates College and taught for three years in a Maine high school. This is her fifth year in the local school system.

The Executive Board of the PTA met recently at the home of Treasurer Thomas Murphy and plans were discussed for a bakery sale Nov. 8, at the Elm Farm, starting at 10 a.m.

The next Board meeting will be held Nov. 25 at the home of Mrs. Clinton Forrest.

League Meetings On Economic Policy

A series of important meetings of the Foreign Economic Policy Committee of the Andover League of Women Voters, for the purpose of reaching a consensus, will be held Nov. 5 and 7.

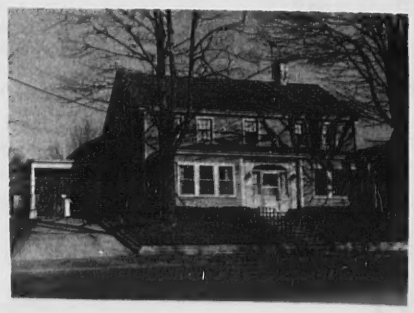

It was pointed out that the League's support of liberal trade policies and sound and adequate economic assistance programs does not define a stand on commodity agreements and private U. S. investment in the developing nations. Commodity agreements, trade stabilization devices for primary products, is a pertinent area for study due to current discussions about "trade preferences" and "exceptions to the usual reciprocity" in the meetings preparatory to the 1964 U.N. Trade and Development Conference. President Kennedy has asked for an increased role of private investment in our foreign aid program. Investors have looked to Canada, Britian, and Western Europe for opportunities rather than to the less-developed areas of the world where the investment risk is large. Thus, business asks for government help in reducing and spreading risk.

Nov. 5, meetings will be held at 9:45 a.m. at the Alumni House, Phillips Academy and at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Miss Rebekah Taft, 232 Salem st.; Nov. 7, at 9:45 a.m. at the Alumni House and at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Black, 9 Wolcott ave.

The members of the Foreign Economic Policy Committee include Mrs. John Ambrose, chairman, Miss Rebekah Taft, Mrs. Oscar Witten, Mrs. Eric Baade, Mrs. Richard Rothwell and Mrs. Bernard Restuccia.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Brown and children, Ann and Peter, of Lexington, and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Brown and children, Larry and Judy, of Arlington, were recently visiting Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Brown of Andover st.

Local Couple Heads Committee

Plans are continuing for the presentation of the Carl de Suze documentary "Empires Revisited - The New Look of Europe" Nov. 8 at 8 p.m. in the North Reading High School Auditorium.

The Couples' Club of Martin's Pond Union Baptist Church is sponsoring this show to aid the Educational Building Fund of that Church.

Having just returned from Europe, Carl de Suze thinks that "Empires Revisited - the New Look of Europe" will be the most exciting journey thus far for arm-chair travelers. To show the surging optimism of the New Europe, Carl de Suze with camera and tape recorder, chronicles scenes from this dynamic and changing world and brings alive not only the significance of the New Europe to us, but also its majestic and turbulent past.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Piercy, 41 Gould rd., are chairmen of the benefit. Assisting them are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Powell of Flash rd., North Reading; Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McMillan of South Main st. and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Stiles, 25 Nutter rd., North Reading.

Other members of the Couples' Club, from whom information and tickets may be obtained, include Mr. and Mrs. Edward Piercey of Upton ave., North Reading; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baker of Linnwood ave., North Reading; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nichols of Gould rd. and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith of Southwick rd., North Reading.

All Welcome By Young In Hearts

Anyone 60 years of age or older is invited, regardless of Church affiliations, to join the "Young In Hearts" Club.

Sponsored by the Free Christian Church, the group welcomes anyone who is seeking companionship, fellowship and sociability.

The first meeting of the "Young In Hearts" was held yesterday at the Free Church and was opened with a brief worship service led by the Rev. J. Allyn Bradford. Informal parlor games followed, with Mrs. Helen Burnham of Chestnut ct. serving as director. Folk songs, with guitar music, were provided by Miss Annie Leacock, talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Leacock of Highland rd. Refreshments were served by the Free Church Board of Deaconesses.

As a special activity, a "Sunshine Basket" to cheer the sick and shut-ins was adopted as a project.

The "Young In Hearts" plan to meet on the last Wednesday of each month and warmly extend an invitation to all interested senior citizens to come.

Christmas Seal Committee Active

Members of the Andover Christmas Seal Committee met Oct. 22, at the home of Mrs. J. Keith Jones on Washington ave., to prepare nearly 5,000 envelopes for mailing to Andover residents.

According to statistics, recently released, tuberculosis is on the rise and financial help is much greater needed than in former years.

Mrs. Jones, wife of a Bell Telephone Laboratory engineer, has spearheaded this drive for funds for several years, assisted by some of the wives of other "Bell Labbers". The wives, for the most part, were unacquainted with one another when they came to make their homes here seven or eight years ago and to enter into community life with zest. Each one has her own pet project in social welfare, church, and local clubs and has had the whole-hearted support of the others when concerted effort is the "role of the day".;

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the entertainment by a committee under the direction of Hostess co-chairmen Mrs. James Carmichael and Mrs. James Conroy.

Bennett Scored Winning TD

A thrilling 40-yard scamper by halfback Dave Bennett brought victory, 13-7, to a win-starved Andover High eleven last Friday night at Newburyport.

The score was deadlocked, 7-7, with only a couple of minutes to play, when Bennett took the handoff from quarterback Tom Marjerison. He scooted around right end, zig-zagged through a half dozen Newburyport men and broke into the clear.

Andover's scoring came in the second half. The first touchdown was by Co-Captain Jim Brent; Charlie Towne kicked the extra point.

Newburyport scored in the second period, marching 66 yards downfield, after an Andover punt.

Karen and Pamela Koester, 142 Lovejoy rd, celebrated their birthdays this month, with parties held a day apart. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Koester.

Karen was eight years old Oct. 15, and entertained a group of her young friends at her home. They enjoyed traditional birthday cake and ice cream, and played a variety of party games.

Attending Karen's party were Janice Giampa, Eileen Gray, Renee LaPointe, Joselyn Johnson, Diane Lindsay, Beth Swartz, Cindy Parisi, Sylvia Hanson and Cathy Fiorenza.

Pamela celebrated her 13th birthday a day later, Oct. 16th.

After entertaining a group of friends during the afternoon, Mr. Koester took the girls for a pizza supper and bowling. They later enjoyed cake and ice cream.

November Club Meets Monday

The November Club of Andover will hold its first meeting of the current season Monday, Nov. 4, at the Clubhouse on Locke st.

From 2 to 2:30, dessert will be served and a reception given new members.

Miss Emilie Jacobson, journalist, lecturer and actress, will address the club on: "Laughter - Freedom's Secret Weapon". A native of Manchester, England, Miss Jacobson played many parts on the English stage before joining the ranks of directors. She produced works of Shaw, Galsworthy and Coward. Widely traveled and multi-lingual, she lived in Italy for years writing a series of articles for British publications on Italian cities. Recently, she has appeared in a very successful television series entitled: "Women in Shakespeare and Shaw".

Believing that laughter is too often overlooked as a means of international understanding, she speaks about serious things in a humorous vein. To realize causes of characteristic national humor, to laugh together and to see ourselves as others see us is vital, Miss Jacobson feels. She brings to her audiences an unaffected and refreshing viewpoint which has received prompt and enthusiastic recognition from the American public.

YOUR Pharmacist SPEAKS

by: Paul Upson. R. Ph.

One of the more calamitous stages teenagers must pass through is the period when young skins are subject to a number of disorders, notable acne. Overproductive skin oil glands can cause this condition, as can rapid body changes peculiar to this age which make skin more susceptible to bacteria.

Starches, fatty foods and sweets encourage acne, while a diet high in vitamins is probably beneficial. Important in helping to curb this condition is sufficient rest, proper elimination, reasonable skin care, proper food, outdoor exercise and use of external medication with a record of beneficial results.

Let's have a few words now about prescriptions - they can and do cure or relieve any of hundreds of human ailments. For a complete prescription service; in fact, for all of your medical needs, you can count on SHAWSHEEN PHARMACY, Shawsheen Square. Free prescription delivery.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Waiting Leads To Disaster

In a letter to the editor this week, Henry Wolfson again makes the point that only desirable industry – industry which actually contributes something to the town over a period of time – should be permitted to locate here.

Naturally there is little argument with his comments – no one advocates attracting undesirable industry. In fact, to disagree with that premise is something akin to lashing out at motherhood, and endorsing sin.

We do have some doubts which go beyond the basic question of desirability:

Who determines whether or not an industry is desirable?

Is this wholly a financial consideration?

With the known competition for industry, who makes the potential industrialist sit still while all this is debated?

Is there any centralized town authority to make such a decision, or do boards and individuals carry on lengthy arguments?

We feel that there has been too little done by our responsible town officials, in the field of industrial development. The establishment of attitudes against industrial growth has been such that the most desirable industries may actually shun the community. Despite the hard work of the Industrial Commission, the basic decisions on zoning and expenditures must be made by other officials, and it is to these boards that we feel criticism should be directed.

An attitude of waiting until just the right industry comes along can result in nothing but failure.

Congratulations, One And All

Thousands of our residents deserve special commendation this week, for very carefully obeying the no-fire ban.

There have been few exceptions; only a relative handful of residents has continued to burn rubbish in the back yard, or leaves on the street, in defiance of the outright ban against such practices.

The results of compliance with the state and local edict can be seen in the fire record – few grass and brush fires have been reported, and these have been minor in comparison to the danger that existed.

Much credit should be given to the many citizens who realized the danger, and took precautions against accidentally starting a major blaze.

Caution Is Warranted

Nearly every year, the headlines tell us of a child who was killed or injured playing in leaves.

While we hope that this year will be an exception, it may not be. For the leaves are piled high along side the roads, a natural fun spot for neighborhood children.

Deputy Fire Chief John Cole pointed out the potential disaster this week – noting that youngsters hidden in the leaves can not be seen by motorists.

Unfortunately, in most cases the streets with the piles of leaves are also the narrower roads. Thus the potential for a terrible accident is greater.

All motorists should exercise great caution under these conditions; parents should warn their children of the serious danger involved in playing in the roadside leaf pile.

Let all of us be very careful, lest those annual headlines tell about one of our own children, on one of our own streets.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:

"As Chairman of the Committee for the Study of Municipal Costs in New Housing appointed by the moderator, pursuant to a directive of the Town Meeting of 1960, I feel I must offer some comments on your editorial of Oct. 17, 1963, "Get On The Ball". This Committee issued a report dated Feb. 27, 1961 which it would be well for every citizen in Andover to read and from which I wish to quote rather extensively. You must have considered the question of industry for Andover of high importance or you would not have troubled to write the editorial. I hope you consider it of sufficient importance to justify publication of this letter in its entirety, despite its length. The citizens of Andover cannot come to an intelligent decision as to what they want relative to industry without all the facts and without every possible view.

"I wish to start by emphasizing that our report did not oppose industry for Andover. However, it did point out the pitfalls associated with indiscriminate acceptance of all types of industry and that the character of Andover is such that industry would not help on the tax rate as much as most advocates thought. In addition, I wish to emphasize that this report was submitted to and approved by the vice president of one of the foremost industrial developers in the country, Cabot, Cabot and Forbes. As a matter of fact, this V-P was virtually cross-examined by our Planning Board on the above point and reiterated his agreement at that time.

"You will recall that our investigation and analysis disclosed that new housing was actually helping to hold the tax rate down and that this was because new construction was preponderantly medium and high valuation. We found that anything which would decrease the appeal of Andover toward such construction would provide only an illusory benefit. Accordingly, our report stated in reference to industry:

" 'Properly selected and controlled such development can be a tax boon to the town; otherwise, it can lead to a tax loss, and create a cancerous blight that may spread through large areas of the commin-through large areas of the community... Readiness to accept the proposals of quick-buck promoters who prey on a community which hopes to have its cake and eat it too, has been responsible for the downfall of amny communities like Andover.'

"I am considerably disturbed by remarks of some of our officials which indicate a rather disdainful view of Andover's attraction to good housing. In one instance a member of the Industrial Commission was heard to remark, 'after all, Andover isn't so much better than -' (naming a neighboring municipality) 'that we should concern ourselves too much over the effect of industry'. At another time, I was told by an official that he did not believe the people in Andover wanted the town to be like Berkeley, Cal. or like Weyland and Lexington in Massachusetts. Perhaps both gentlemen are correct but I believe the citizens should be asked in a referendum whether or not they would want to see industry in Andover of a kind and to an extent which would destroy its character.

"The puzzling feature of all this, is that it is difficult to understnad the discounting of Andover's attractions, inview of the relatively small gain which would result from industrial development. The Federal Reserve Board of Boston had a survey conducted to determine the amount of assistance industry the amount of assistance industry contributed to various types of communities. Referring to this study and assuming complete development of our industrial area, our report quoted the probable assistance to the tax rate in this manner:

" 'Obviously Andover would lie between these two figures, perhaps between 4% and 5%.' (This was approved emphatically by the Cabot, Cabot and Forbes representative.).

"Apparently, this relatively small pot of gold at the end of the rainbow is enough to in number of folks to ignore and to risk the complete ation of Andover; an eve which could not only the 4% to 5% mentioned but could become an actual on the community.

"Continuing further the reads:

'At this time it would to point out the danger of the 'Broaden the Tax Base' ment as a panacea for all cipal tax woes... There general, three sets of stances under which a munic can broaden its tax base; on is a permanent aid.

" '1. The tax base can creased by adding properties will not affect future develop residential, commercial dustrial, adversely, and wi not require services costing than the tax return. Future dential construction can desirable and the character community can be preserv even enhanced.'

" '3. This is the type of perty which offers an imm net tax return but affects residential, commercial dustrial construction adve This is the insidious type beckons with an immediate and is apt to blind the comm to the ultimate loss... can the character of the municip to such an extent that it to attract high-grade develop and ultimately drives the ta skyward.'

"The Cabot, Cabot and representative warned us p ularly with regard to this and it is this approach plead with the townspeople cautious about. This approach be like a narcotic. It stim to start out with but ultim it destroys. I should like this entire subject discu thoroughly in open meeting directive by referendum giv our officials as to how far dover is to go in bringing dustry to town."

Teen Council Is Raising Money

The Teen Council of the Andover Teen Center met Monday night to discuss plans concerning the establishment of a new location site at the Camp Olympia Lodge.

The meeting proved to be fruitful in regard to ideas and projects discussed. To date, the council, with the help of the teenagers of the town, hopes to raise a minimum of $500 to aid in the restoration of the Lodge.

Tomorrow evening a bakery sale will be at the Andover Co-Op between 4-8 p.m. This money will become part of the contribution of $500. The Council has also made plans for a supper for the "teen" members of the High School, as well as a dance in the near future to help raise the money.

In the past three weeks, the young people of the town have definitely done more than make plans. Many members of the high school spent Oct. 16, as a result of teachers convention, scraping the building, washing windows, and painting the outside. October 20, there was a total of 83 teens working there, clearing out the side of a slope to be used for sledding, skiing, and tobogganning in the winter.

TEAKA OF DORMA

Peggy Bruner's Pride & Joy, Teaka, Wins First Prize At Specialty Show

A moment's reflection on an aphorism will often reveal its fallacy.

One of these sayings, "Familiarity breeds contempt", has been proved wrong many times. A striking local example may be found on Rocky Hill rd. Here, some 10 years ago, Miss Doris Storberg settled and to this area she moved Dorma Kennels from its previous location on Summer st. She raises poodles, golden retrievers and German shepherd dogs. It was the shepherds that caught the interest of Peggy and Betty Bruner, daughters of neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Bruner, Virginia Pacht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Pacht, and Carol D'Amore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. D'Amore, 432 So. Main st. The love of these girls for the shepherds has never wavered.

For well over a year Peggy Bruner worked and saved and waited for the time when she could afford a German shepherd pup. In Nov., 1962, the great day arrived and one of the summer puppies, Teaka of Dorma, became Peggy's own. Teaka's pedigree traces five generations, many of them champions, some from Germany and some, of course being of Miss Storberg's kennel.

Last spring Peggy began showing Teaka at dog shows. Teaka won blue ribbons time after time. In June she brought home a ribbon and trophy from Wellesley as best in the puppy class. In July at a "sanction" match at Holyoke, she won first prize in the working puppies group and was judged best puppy of all breeds. Early this month, Teaka and Peggy traveled to Salisbury, Long Island, to the National Specialty Show where Teaka was awarded a handsome fluted silver bowl and first prize in the novice class. The early ribbons she had won qualified her for a trophy for best female puppy in New England, awarded Oct. 16 at the annual dinner of the Bay State German Shepherd Club in Lynnfield. In November, Teaka will compete at the big Eastern Dog Club show in Boston and will again be shown by her owner, who will celebrate her 16th birthday earlier in the month.

Peggy's sister Betty is only 13 years old, but is also saving toward ownership of a German shepherd. Virginia Pacht earned money for her dog, Greta, and Carol D'Amore owns Echo of Dorma. Both girls occasionally show their dogs, Virginia in obedience competition and Carol in breed competition. All the girls may eventually prove the truth of another epigram about bending the twig and thereby inclining the tree, and may make raising and handling dogs their vocations, not mere avocations.

Mrs. Newman Matthews has returned to her home on High Plain rd. after spending several days with Miss Lillian Pike of Cape Porpoise, Me.

Family Sunday At Free Church

Family Sunday was observed at the Free Christian Church on Sunday. Every pew was filled to capacity, with the overflow crowd of worshippers sitting in the balcony.

The beautiful altar flowers were in loving memory of her mother and father by Miss Bessie A. [illegible] of Maple ave.

Serving as greeters were Deacon Robert Neikirk and his daughter Theresa, who also serves on the Christian Education Committee.

The Rites of Christian Baptism were administered to the following children, by the Rev. J. Allyn Bradford: Rhonda Louise Bedell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bedell of Chestnut st.; Mark Griswold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Griswold of Shawsheen; Mark James McKinery, son of Pfc. and Mrs. James McKinery, Woodcliff rd.; John Wayne Kenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kenney of Stevens st.; and Jon Rein VanDerZee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert VanDerZee of [illegible] st.

Flowers for this service were in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Stewart by their family.

Rev. Mr. Bradford told a story to the congregation following the dedication of Church School teachers. In his narrative, Mr. Bradford used several props which helped to attract the attention of even the youngest. By employing a big sketch of a door, the pastor, bible and four sketches of children seeking entrance, he explained that the pre-schooler is one who is frightened and is seeking welcome and friends. Using a real bass drum and painting materials, he explained that the primary child not only learns to use these but should also be taught to use them creatively, creatively and as part of a group. The junior child is ready to read the bible for himself, while the Jr. high and high schooler faces the difficult task of facing an adult world under pressure of many ways, he continued.

Wednesday afternoon, Oct. [illegible] members of Den 1 of Cub Pack 100, with their leader, Mrs. Alfred Bloom and assistant leader, Mrs. Harold Wilder, observed Fire Prevention Week with a visit to the Andover Fire Station where they were shown all the fire apparatus.

During the time they were there they had an additional thrill, as they witnessed the fire department answer a summons to a [illegible].

After the members returned to the home of Mrs. Wilder, they worked on Cub requirements. For the next meeting, they will appear in a denner and an assistant demonstration. The meeting for next week will be omitted.

Another - Chapter In "Neumark Story"

What may well become known as the "Neumark story" has another chapter this week.

This one is from Billings, Montana.

A man named George M. Washington, with offices in the Midland Bank Building there, has sent the Board of Trade a copy of a letter he wrote to the Wall st. Journal, referring to Mr. Neumark's "Lost Cause".

Mr. Washington defended the acceptance of federal funds; his letter indicated that he has been in controversy with the Wall Street Journal before over this issue.

Inquiries have also been received at the Townsman office from various national publications, asking for available material on Mr. Neumark's efforts to avoid accepting federal funds for the local sewer extension project.

NEW BROWNIE TROOP AT SANBORN SCHOOL

The newly-formed Brownie Scout Troop 120 met last Monday afternoon in the Sanborn School on Lovejoy rd.

CHARTER PROVISIONS NOT FOLLOWED

out by each of the town departments, separately and without any system of bulk buying.

If an item costs more than $15 a purchase order is required, and must be signed by the department head and the manager. The committee found, however, that bulk purchasing of these slightly more expensive supplies is not carried out.

The full committee appeared to agree, finally, that the town manager does not have to personally act as purchasing agent under the charter. A paragraph in the charter could be interpreted to mean that he has a personal mandate to do this job. But after lengthy discussion, most members felt that the section indicates that this is the manager's responsibility, and that he may delegate the authority to someone to do the work.

Mr. Cookson emphasized that his sub-committee is not expressing an opinion on the present system of purchasing - merely reporting on what was found to be the procedure.

And the procedure, the sub-committee found, does not follow the charter requirements.

Several members were especially critical of the purchasing system involving the school department, and the lack of coordination between the manager and the schools in this regard.

Other loopholes in the purchasing system are already being plugged, it was reported.

Mr. Cookson said the town accountant, Wendell A. Mattheson, has insisted that all town employees, when buying items at local stores, sign the slips so that he can tell who bought them and to what department budget they should be charged. There had been some laxity in this, Mr. Cookson reported, as employees did not always sign slips at the various stores.

In the area of receiving purchases, the sub-committee reported there to be less than a perfect arrangement, as far as checking to be sure that all merchandise is received. Although department heads send a signed voucher to the accountant, indicating their approval of the bills, there is no accompanying "receiving slip", specifically stating that the purchases have been received. These slips are kept in another part of the town hall, it was reported, and are not readily available to the accountant.

And Mr. Cookson expressed amazement that the state auditors reportedly have never asked to see the slips, to confirm that purchases have been completed satisfactorily.

Again, he emphasized that the mere fact that the sub-committee is investigating all purchasing processes has served to help tighten up the procedures considerably.

And there was a general feeling among committee members that town officials, as they read about the progress of the study, are making changes and corrections in their methods, bringing them in line with the charter.

During the discussions, it was pointed out that the items now purchased in bulk are the same ones bought that way before the manager charter came into existence. These include fuel oil, gasoline, tires and the like. Items over $500 in value must be put out to bid.

In an aside to the report, Raymond LaRosa noted that there appears to be no requirement that someone examine large pieces of equipment, to be certain that the town has received what it asked for and purchased.

He suggested that a person should be designated to go over equipment, to find out whether all the specifications have been lived up to.

LaRosa said there has been some general checking done in the various departments, but that it is not on a formal basis, with some one person required to sign an inspection slip. He called attention to the inspection given a truck he had sold to Western Electric Co., when "four or five engineers went over it".

Day Camp Drew Many Objections

Many objections to a proposed day camp at 166 Jenkins rd. were heard by the Board of Appeals Oct. 24.

Jim Luscotoff, a member of the World Champion Boston Celtics, applied for the permit to operate a day camp in the area - backing up to the state forest.

While abutters generally approved day camps, there were objections to the one under consideration.

Some residents of the area supported the petition, however.

Objections centered around the future - whether this opened the door to other requests for use of private property in the neighborhood; traffic problems were pointed out.

The petitioner said he plans to have privately-owned station wagons transport the children, thus keeping the traffic at a minimum.

One resident, supporting the petition, commented that he couldn't understand opposition after what the neighbors have gone through in relation to the camping site at the forest.

Other requests at the Board meeting last week included:

A variance to allow building a single-family house on a private way from Central st. to Torr st. was requested by Helen C. Parker.

Reichhold Chemicals asked permission to extend a boiler room, resulting in less than the required distance from the nearest residence at 77 Lowell Junction rd.

Rev. Palmquist To Appear In 'Vale

The Rev. Roger W. Palmquist will present a program of quick action cartoons and chalk drawings Wednesday, November 6, in the Ballardvale United Church.

His topic will be "Speaking of Love". His cartoons are drawn in color and each is followed by a light commentary, and are presented with a musical background. Following the program a social hour will be enjoyed with the members of the social committee.

In addition to these illustrated programs, which he has given since 1945, Mr. Palmquist has prepared material for the illustration of many books. At the present time he is the first assistant to Charles M. Schulz, creator of the comic strip, "Peanuts".

Open House At Library

Sunday afternoon, Nov. 3, the Memorial Hall Library once more opens its doors in welcome to all its friends in the annual Open House.

The guest speaker is to be George E. Brown, whose subject is "Reading Contemporary Poetry". Mr. Brown is a member of the English Department of Bradford Junior College, and teaches courses in the English Novel, contemporary poetry, and creative writing. He joined the college faculty in 1954. He can claim a New England boyhood, having grown up in Rowley, and being graduated from Governor Dummer Academy. He received his Bachelor's degree from Brown University in 1951, his Master's degree from the University of Connecticut and did two further years in graduate study at Duke University before he came to Bradford.

Mr. Brown has unlimited enthusiasm for his subject, and confesses to being what he calls an "amateur" poet and novelist. He has prepared a booklist on the subject of twentieth century poetry, copies of which will be available at Open House, and there will be a display of the titles which he has included.

There will be time, before Mr. Brown speaks at 4 o'clock, for book-minded guests to browse among the table displays of autumn publications, and the privilege of reserving interesting titles will be extended to all, as in the past.

New recordings will be on view, also to be reserved. This year there will be a table of books suggested for Christmas giving to boys and girls, displayed in the adult reading room. A booklist of suggested books, adult and juvenile, for the Christmas list will be available, giving publisher and cost of each item listed.

The children's room will not have a display there of books for boys and girls, but nationally observed "Children's Book Week", Nov. 10-16 will be observed there with a special program.

Light refreshments will be served Sunday and a warm welcome is extended to all who attend.

Book displays will remain on view throughout the following week.
